
Kanye West vs. 50 Cent

Posted by ohiostate1016 - 2007/12/28 02:59

They both released an album on the same day a few months ago (Kanye has sold more), and they don't like each other. The question: who do you like more?

I feel like they are both really different, as individuals and their music too!
I like them both, though it seems like Kanye is really working hard to be popular.. which can be annoying. But maybe that's just me. There's my two cents.. or 50.. whatever. :P

I like Kanye more.
I think that they are both entirely full of themselves (which may be why they hate each other), but I think that Kanye is more...talented? His music is more diverse, I believe.
All of 50's music sounds the same...and he's just annoying. I mean, who brags about shooting someone? Personally, I don't think that's very cool. And he has weird teeth. Yeahhh, haha.

That's a good reason, I know ;)

I'm pretty sure that they don't have anything against each other. The whole battle of the albums thing was a pretty good marketing campaign, but I've seen interviews with Kanye where he's said that he doesn't have any problem with 50 or 50 with him. He said he can't really have beef with rappers because he is too much of a fan.

Either way, I love Kanye even though he's cocky as hell.

I like em both for different reasons. They each bring their own vibe to the table.

I think as far as albums go this time around, Kanye's CD had way more "PODdable" (my slang for i pod worthy haha) songs. Flashing Lights is prob one of my fav songs of 07/08.

I like 50 too though, eespecially when hes got an old school beat in the background and a smooth R&B singer dueting like Joe, or MJB.
